MICHAEL W. SCHAFFNER
CLERK, U.S. DISTRICT COURT

COUNT ONE

The SPECIAL NOVEMBER 2002 GRAND JURY charges:

1. At times material to this indictment:
 - a. The Department of Education (hereinafter "DOE") was a department of the United States government with the primary responsibility of administering various educational programs throughout the United States, including those authorized by Title 20, Chapter 28, Subchapter IV of the United States Code and applicable federal regulations pertaining to student financial assistance.

DOCKETED
OCT 10 2003

b. One of the educational programs administered by the DOE was the Federal Family Loan program (hereinafter "FFEL"), which includes Federal Stafford Loans, Federal PLUS Loans and Federal Consolidation Loans for college students.

c. In order to participate in the FFEL program, a student is required to complete a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (hereinafter "FAFSA"). The FAFSA requires students to certify that the information being supplied is true and complete. In addition, the student must certify that any federal financial aid funds received will be used for educational expenses only. Each FAFSA carries the warning that a false statement or misrepresentation is punishable as a crime.

d. Pursuant to the FFEL, the DOE does not lend money directly to students. Rather, eligible students apply to private lenders, and a public or private nonprofit agency guarantees repayment of the loan to the lender in the event that the student defaults on the loan (hereafter, the "guarantee agency"). DOE reinsures the loan and covers any losses incurred by the guaranty agency caused by student default.

e. In order to be an eligible borrower under the FFEL program, federal regulations require that the borrower must be at least enrolled half-time in a participating school. The borrower applies for FFEL loans by completing an application form which is submitted to the school for enrollment certification. The application requires the borrower to certify under a penalty of perjury that the information being supplied is true, complete, correct and made in good faith. Each application carries the warning that a false statement or misrepresentation is punishable as a crime under the United States Criminal Code, specifically, Title 20, Section 1097. The application also requires the student to certify that he will use the funds received only for education expenses and that he will repay immediately any loan proceeds that are not spent for educational expenses for attendance at the certifying school.

f. The participating school is required to certify on the face of the loan application the borrower's eligibility, enrollment status, the approved loan period, cost of attendance, grade level, anticipated graduation date, recommended loan amounts, and recommended loan disbursement dates. The certification by the school provides the lender with the assurance that the borrower named on the application is accepted for enrollment and is making satisfactory progress in an approved program. After the application is completed by the borrower and the school, the application is submitted to a guarantee agency or lender of the DOE, who act on the application. After an application is approved, loans are extended to the applicant by a lender under contract with the DOE and its guarantee agencies.

g. Pursuant to Title 34, Code of Federal Regulations, Section 682.207 (D)(1), checks issued by the lender under the FFEL program to borrowers who are enrolled in foreign schools are made co-payable to the institution and the borrower and, if the borrower makes such a request, are sent directly to the borrower using the address submitted on the application.

2. From at least in or about August 1998, and continuing until at least in or about January 1999, at Chicago, in the Northern District of Illinois, Eastern Division,

ANTHONY HERVEY,
GLORIA HERVEY,
SEAN LOGGINS,
COREY STUCKEY,
DONALD BRABOY,
GREGORY HALL,
RONALD JACKSON,
ISIAH MILLER,
ROBERT MILLER, and

defendants herein, along with others known and unknown to the grand jury, knowingly devised, intended to devise, and participated in a scheme to defraud DOE and its lenders to obtain money and property by means of materially false and fraudulent pretenses, representations, and promises, which scheme is further described below.

3. It was part of the scheme that defendants ANTHONY HERVEY and GLORIA HERVEY recruited approximately 16 individuals to apply for student loans knowing that those individuals were ineligible for those loans, and falsely represented on loan documents that the individuals were to become full-time students at the City University of London during the 1998-1999 academic year. The total amount of student loans applied for was approximately $285,000.

4. It was further part of the scheme that defendants ANTHONY HERVEY and GLORIA HERVEY represented to their co-defendants and others that they ran a program called International Education Exchange Program (hereinafter "IEEP") and that IEEP assisted students to get student loans.

5. It was further part of the scheme that defendants ANTHONY HERVEY and GLORIA HERVEY recruited co-defendants SEAN LOGGINS and COREY STUCKEY to assist them in recruiting additional individuals to make and submit false and fraudulent representations on 1998-1999 FAFSAs and a document entitled "Application and Promissory Note for Federal Stafford Loans" (hereafter, "Loan Application/ Promissory Notes").

6. It was further part of the scheme that defendants SEAN LOGGINS, COREY STUCKEY, DONALD BRABOY, GREGORY HALL, RONALD JACKSON, ISIAH MILLER, ROBERT MILLER, and ELKIN WELLS, along with others known and unknown to the grand jury, falsely represented that they were students who would be attending the City University of London for graduate school, and filled out false and fraudulent FAFSAs and Loan Application/Promissory Notes for the purpose of causing the DOE and its guarantee agency, United Student Aid Funds ("USAIF"), to approve the application, and causing one of DOE's lenders to issue student loans in the approximate amount of $18,500 for each student (except for defendant STUCKEY, where the approximate amount was $7,500).

7. It was further part of the scheme that defendants ANTHONY HERVEY and GLORIA HERVEY assisted their co-schemers to complete false and fraudulent FAFSAs and Loan Applications/Promissory Notes reinsured by DOE.

8. It was further part of the scheme that defendants and SEAN LOGGINS and COREY STUCKEY recruited individuals to complete false and fraudulent FAFSAs and Loan Applications/Promissory Notes reinsured by DOE and assisted co-defendants ANTHONY HERVEY and GLORIA HERVEY in the completion and collection of such FAFSAs and Loan Application/Promissory Notes.

9. Among the false representations made on the fraudulent loan application was the misrepresentation that the applicants were enrolled as full-time students at the City University of London in London, England, when, in fact, they were not.

10. It was further part of the scheme that defendant ANTHONY HERVEY forged the signature of the "Authorized School Official" of the City University of London on approximately 16 Loan Application/Promissory Notes and falsely certified that the applicants were enrolled at the school.

11. It was further part of the scheme that defendants ANTHONY HERVEY and GLORIA HERVEY submitted and caused to be submitted the false and fraudulent Loan Application/Promissory Notes to the lenders through the guarantee agency, USAF, knowing that such applications contained materially false statements.

12. It was further part of the scheme that defendants caused the National Bank of Indianapolis to distribute $18,500 less bank origination fees, or approximately $17,760, to each of the applicants (except for defendant STUCKEY, who received $7,500 from the First Union National Bank of North Carolina).

13. It was further part of the scheme that defendants ANTHONY HERVEY and GLORIA HERVEY caused and attempted to cause several of the applicants to pay over to defendant ANTHONY HERVEY proceeds of the scheme.

14. It was further part of the scheme that on or about September 3, 1998, defendant SEAN LOGGINS submitted a FAFSA, and on or about October 22, 1998, submitted a Loan Application/Promissory Note. He misrepresented on the FAFSA or Loan Application/Promissory that 1) he was a student, when, in fact, he was not, and 2) that he would immediately repay any loans that were not used for educational expense for attendance at the City University of London during 1998-1999 school year, when, in fact, he had no such intention of repaying loans that were not used for that purpose.

15. It was further part of the scheme that on or about June 12, 1998, defendant COREY STUCKEY submitted a FAFSA, and on or about July 29, 1998, submitted a Loan Application/Promissory Note. He misrepresented on the FAFSA or Loan Application/Promissory that 1) he was a student, when, in fact, he was not, and 2) that he would immediately repay any loans that were not used for educational expense for attendance at the City University of London during 1998-1999 school year, when, in fact, he had no such intention of repaying loans that were not used for that purpose.

16. It was further part of the scheme that on or about September 24, 1998, defendant DONALD BRAYBOY submitted a FAFSA, and on or about October 22, 1998, submitted a Loan Application/Promissory Note. He misrepresented on the FAFSA or Loan Application/Promissory that 1) he was a student, when, in fact, he was not; 2) that he was a first-year graduate student, when, in fact, he was not; and 3) that he would immediately repay any loans that were not used for educational expense for attendance at the City University of London during 1998-1999 school year, when, in fact, he had no such intention of repaying loans that were not used for that purpose.

17. It was further part of the scheme that on or about September 28, 1998, defendant GREGORY HALL submitted a FAFSA, and on or about October 22, 1998, submitted a Loan Application/Promissory Note. He misrepresented on the FAFSA or Loan Application/Promissory that 1) that he was a first-year graduate student, when he fact he was not, and 2) that he would immediately repay any loans that were not used for educational expense for attendance at the City University of London during 1998-1999 school year, when, in fact, he had no such intention of repaying loans that were not used for that purpose.

18. It was further part of the scheme that on or about September 25, 1998, defendant RONALD JACKSON submitted a FAFSA, and on or about October 22, 1998, submitted a Loan Application/Promissory Note. He misrepresented on the FAFSA or Loan Application/Promissory that 1) he was a student, when, in fact, he was not; 2) that he was a first-year graduate student, when, in fact, he was not; and 3) that he would immediately repay any loans that were not used for educational expense for attendance at the City University of London during 1998-1999 school year, when, in fact, he had no such intention of repaying loans that were not used for that purpose.

19. It was further part of the scheme that on or about September 24, 1998, defendant ISIAH MILLER submitted a FAFSA, and on or about October 22, 1998, submitted a Loan Application/Promissory Note. He misrepresented on the FAFSA or Loan Application/Promissory that 1) he was a student, when, in fact, he was not; 2) that he was a first-year graduate student, when, in fact, he was not; and 3) that he would immediately repay any loans that were not used for educational expense for attendance at the City University of London during 1998-1999 school year, when, in fact, he had no such intention of repaying loans that were not used for that purpose.

20. It was further part of the scheme that on or about October 22, 1998, defendant ROBERT MILLER submitted a Loan Application/Promissory Note. He misrepresented on the Loan Application/Promissory that 1) he was a student, when, in fact, he was not, and 2) that he would immediately repay any loans that were not used for educational expense for attendance at the City University of London during 1998-1999 school year, when, in fact, he had no such intention of repaying loans that were not used for that purpose.

21. It was further part of the scheme that on or about September 21, 1998, defendant ELKIN WELLS submitted a FAFSA, and on or about October 22, 1998, submitted a Loan Application/Promissory Note. He misrepresented on the FAFSA or Loan Application/Promissory Note that 1) he was a student, when, in fact, he was not; 2) that he was a first-year graduate student, when, in fact, he was not; and 3) that he would immediately repay any loans that were not used for educational expense for attendance at the City University of London during 1998-1999 school year, when, in fact, he had no such intention of repaying loans that were not used for that purpose.

22. It was further part of the scheme to defraud that defendants did misrepresent, conceal, hide, and caused to be misrepresented, concealed, and hidden acts done in furtherance of the scheme and the purposes of those acts.
